THE NORTHWEST.

Abbott & Williams have sold their stock ranch near Fort Harvey to Foden after a term of six months. This is the result of the man's attention to cattle raising, in that he is now over the Grande Ronde river at the span of 100 feet. This will do much to promote and strengthen the business as well as add to its appearance.

Washington Territory.

The census returns show that in Washington county has a population of 10 persons to every square mile of land, while in the county at $350,000,000 worth of wheat would give $400 to every man, woman and child in the county.

The postoffice at Watsburg having been burned Postmaster Smith proposed to let it in a good style. It has been ordered in San Francisco and will be ready for the use of the late patient in the same style as boxes as are used in all the post offices in the state.

During the month of August a were filed in the Watah Watah land office, a hundred applications for 4077 acres of land homesteads for 1027 acres 23 pre-emption applications for 3600 acres 1000 acres culture entries for 4000 acres while 1400 acres were paid for under the various land laws.

Work on the Dayton branch is still progressing. The advance camp of Chinese laborers is on the Atchison place 44 miles below Dayton. The next camp is followed by two others at the junction and two of Chinese rock workers. Two white scraper gangs one Chinese cart gang and one Chinese wheelbarrow gang between Watsburg and Junction-grove stakes clear through. The trail will be left or no team work above Watsburg.

WHAT IS A GENTLEMAN?

How Cardinal Newman Answers the Question.

It is almost a definition of a gentleman to say he is one who never inflicts pain. And so it is that both refined and as far as possible, are refined.

He is mainly occupied in refined, refined.

He is free and unhampered action of those about him, and he concerns with their movements rather than take it initiative himself. His life is considered as parallel to the life of a contemplative, and the arrangements of a personal nature like an easy chair or a good fire which do their part in dispelling cold and fatigue though nature provdes means of rest and animal heat without them.

The true gentleman is in himself a source of those who are not his, all clash of opinion, or collision of feeling, all restraint, or suspicion or gloom or restlessness, his great concern being to have every one about him well and at his ease. He is at his ease, and he is toward the healthful, gentle, toward the distant, and moreful to the usual.

He guards against unreasonable allus or topics which may irritate, and new scenes, his make light of favors while he does them, and seems to be receiving when he is conferring.

He never speaks of himself except when compelled, never defends himself by a mere retort, he has no way of saving himself, and is not afraid to expose those who interfere with him and interprets everything for the best. He is never mean or little in his disputes, never takes unfair advantages, never mistakes personalities or slight sayings, and is not afraid to speak out. From a long sighted prudence, he observes the maxims of the sage and sees that we should conduct ourselves toward our enemy as he was one day to be our friend.

He is a leader toward the healthful, gentle, toward the distant, and moreful to the usual.

He is toward the healthful, gentle, toward the distant, and moreful to the usual.
